Hilunga Refloated

VANCOUVER (CP) — A salvage crew has refloated the government survey vessel Hilunga which was wrecked Feb. 16 during a violent storm.

The 82-foot ship will be towed to Vancouver with soft patches on her damaged hull as soon as weather permits.

She was taken off the jagged rocks of a beach on a tiny island near Aristazabel Island, 400 miles northwest of Vancouver by members of the Pacific Salvage Co. tug Salvage Queen.

The Hilunga is valued at about $150,000.

Coercion Charge Denied By Deputy Mines Minister

First witness to testify before the legislature's mining committee today was Dr. John Walker, deputy minister of mines.

He was recalled to give evidence on Mr. Jamieson's testimony Wednesday that former mines minister R. E. Sommers "coerced" him in the matter of signing release of funds to Wade and Wells.

Dr. Walker said "There was no coercion" brought to bear against the consulting engineer. He said the entire responsibility

Jamieson's Experience Long, Varied.

Edgar A. Jamieson has one of the longest and most spectacular careers of any engineer in British Columbia.

Here is a partial record of the engineering accomplishments of the man who was suspended Wednesday from his post as sergeant-at-arms in the British Columbia legislature.

His suspension resulted from evidence he gave before the legislature's mining committee, as a consulting engineer, that he had stated he was out to "break" former lands and forests minister R. E. Sommers.

Mr. Jamieson designed both Johnson Street bridges in Victoria and laid plans for the Canadian Pacific Railway tunnel under downtown Vancouver.

He engineered the installation of the first 200-inch paper machines put in operation by the Powell River Company, now one of the largest newsprint mills in the world.

HYDRO PLANS

During his 50 years of engineering practice in British Columbia he laid out preliminary plans for hydro-electric plants, many of which have since been constructed at the sites he surveyed.

During the Second World War, Mr. Jamieson was commissioned a lieutenant-commander in the Royal Navy.

A graduate engineer of the University of Toronto, he is a member of the Royal Society of Arts.

He acted as resident engineer on construction of the CPR railway bridge over the Pitt River in 1912.

Mr. Jamieson sought the Liberal nomination in Esquimalt in 1952.

EAST GERMANS MUST LEARN HOW TO SHOOT

BERLIN (Reuters)—A government resolution published in the East German law gazette calls on the entire population to learn to shoot. It decrees that shooting ranges be set up at all public festivals, places of recreation and holiday resorts.

Totem Theatre Adjudicator for School Festival

Adjudicator for the 16th Annual School Drama Festival which will open Monday evening at Esquimalt High School, is Mrs. Lily Harper, formerly with the Totem Theatre, Vancouver, and at present active with the Vancouver Little Theatre and CBC dramatic productions.

Mrs. Harper has had practical experience in scenic design and construction as well as acting, and for eight years has been directing and producing a variety of elementary and high school plays. She has adjudicated a number of drama festivals in British Columbia.

Twenty-two schools from all over Greater Victoria, including junior and senior high schools, elementary and private schools, will participate.

There will be afternoon and evening sessions throughout a full week and the festival will conclude with an honor performance of three plays selected by the adjudicator. This performance will take place Saturday evening at Victoria High School.

LEXINGTON, Ky. (AP)—Four students and two other persons were arrested today on the University of Kentucky campus after a federal agent investigated the reported sale of narcotics.

ALGIERS REVOLT TERMED FULL-SCALE CIVIL WAR

PARIS (UPI)—Premier Guy Mollet's government demanded unprecedented "special powers" today to halt nationalist terrorism in Algeria.

The bill would give him a legally free hand to assume virtually complete control of all affairs in the troubled north African region which is in the throes of what amounts to civil war, although the Paris regime has carefully avoided use of that term.

Six Adrift in Pacific 64 Days Snatched From Rescuers by Gale

HONIARAS, Solomon Islands—Survivors aboard the 40-ton ketch Arakarima came in sight of land after 64 days adrift in the Pacific—only to be snatched out of the hands of rescuers by heavy seas.

Twelve persons suffering from exposure and malnutrition were landed today from the vessel at Guadalcanal, in the area noted for its dangerous Solomons, but the Arakarima reefs and tidal currents. But again drifted out to sea with six other survivors aboard.

A government patrol launch carrying a doctor and special food left here today in an attempt to reach the Arakarima, Dec. 28 on a 24-mile overnight survivors ashore.

The ship suddenly appeared on Wednesday off the Avu mission station on the south coast of Guadalcanal, son Tarawa in the Gilbert Islands. Canoes brought some of the lost.

The ketch, carrying a crew of 12 and eight passengers, left Port Islands.

Canoes brought some of the lost.

Liberals in Senate
Oppose Grain Loans
(From Times News Services)

The government's grain legislation, half of which encountered bitter opposition in the Commons while the other half sailed through with barely a protest, has hit a couple of sharp Liberal reefs in the Senate.

One bill would provide federal storage payments on wheat carryovers exceeding 178,000,000 bushels at the Aug. 1 opening of any crop year. A second is to ratify government guarantees of banks loans up to $1,500 at 5 per cent interest on farm-stored grain.

"I don't like it," Senator Crerar (L., Manitoba) said Wednesday of the storage measure.

Senator Barbour (L., Prince Edward Island) said the legislation is "a kind of subsidy." It would only tend to increase Canada's heavy wheat production even more.

Given Approval in Principle

The grain storage bill was finally given approval in principle by the Senate on division a device indicating opposition without a recorded vote.

But the loans measure was opposed by Senator Haig. He said the other seven members of his party in the Senate "can vote as they like, but I'm going to vote against the bill."

The Senate resumes debate on the bill today.

In the Commons the government turned back all opposition attempts to broaden the powers of the estimates committee.

An amendment to the government motion re-establishing the committee, moved by Donald Fleming (P.C., Toronto, Eglinton), would have enabled the committee itself to decide which departmental spending estimates it would study. The amendment was defeated by a vote of 142 to 78.

Ross Thatcher (Ind., Moose Jaw-Lake Centre) then proposed an amendment to have the committee review estimates of all government departments and crown corporations. Speaker Rene Beaudoin ruled that out of order.

The federal government has allocated more than $4,045,000 to the provinces in the last two fiscal years for civil defence purposes, a parliamentary return showed Wednesday.

However, the return for Major G. R. Pearkes VC (P.C., Esquimalt-Saanich) showed that less than 30 per cent of the total was spent or authorized to be spent as of Feb. 15.

Quebec, which was allocated $603,375 in the 1954-55 and 1955-56 fiscal years, and Prince Edward Island, which was allocated $10,827 in each year, have not spent anything so far.

In 1954-55, the eight other

Senators Crerar, one-time resources minister and former president of United Grain Growers Ltd., said if grain growers were given a "compensation of banks loans up to $1,500 at 5 per cent interest on farm-stored grain."

Party leaders predicted that Eisenhower's re-nomination will be automatic.

Mr. Eisenhower went before the American people by radio and television Wednesday night to tell them in person that he is willing—and able—to run and serve if the Republican party and the people want him.

"... Let me make one thing clear," the president told the great nationwide audience. "As of this moment, there is not the slightest doubt that I can perform as well as I ever have, all of the important duties of the presidency. ... So far as I am concerned, I am confident I can continue to carry them indefinitely."

MUST CUT TRAVEL

"Otherwise, I would never have made the decision I announced today."

The president said he is a "recovered heart patient." This means, he said, that he must eliminate many of the less important social and ceremonial activities of his job.

Then he laid down the conditions for seeking re-nomination and re-election:

"Neither for re-nomination nor re-election would I engage in extensive traveling and in whistle-stop speaking—normally referred to as 'barn-storming'."

To Republican convention delegates he said "I shall, in general, wage no political campaign in the customary pattern."

He said that if the GOP delegates want a nominee who would be a more active campaigner, they would have the right—indeed, the duty—to choose someone else.

Meanwhile, reaction around the world was mixed.

The President's Second Term

THE IMMEDIATE FUTURE OF American presidential politics doubtless is settled by Mr. Eisenhower's decision to stand for a second term. He should be re-elected without difficulty, almost without a campaign.

The Democratic Party's hopes, and the candidacy of Mr. Adlai Stevenson, alike are probably wrecked by a few words from the White House.

If Mr. Eisenhower's health can survive the strain, the United States can look forward to four more years of leadership from the most popular president in history. The free world, which has learned to respect him as its most powerful friend, is assured of a continuance of his foreign policies without basic change.

But the President's decision—obviously taken in anguish from a high sense of duty—raises serious problems for our American neighbors.

In the first place, it seems certain that Mr. Eisenhower cannot possibly endure the strain to which he has subjected himself since 1953 and which brought on his collapse last year. He will have to devise an easier schedule and delegate more work to his colleagues.

The Democrats will say in the election campaign that the President must rule as a kind of constitutional monarch or regent and not really as a president. This, indeed, is the only personal argument they can use against a man whom they have supported and praised for the last several years. The public opinion polls, however, suggested by an overwhelming majority that the American people would rather have Mr. Eisenhower working limited hours than any other President in full health.

Secondly, the nomination of a Republican candidate for vice-president becomes more important than ever before. There is always the chance—he has candidly admitted it—that Mr. Eisenhower may be unable to complete his second term.

If he dies, or even if he is incapacitated, the vice-president automatically succeeds. Moreover, when the President must conserve his strength more responsibilities than ever will devolve upon the nation's second citizen.

The Democrats will certainly argue that in the Republican vice-presidential candidate the nation may well be voting for the next president, and they will concentrate their attack on Mr. Nixon, if he is nominated.

Strong efforts will be made by some Republicans at the summer convention to unload Mr. Nixon in favor of some more acceptable figure, but the President will settle that question single-handed. If Mr. Eisenhower wants him, Mr. Nixon will be nominated. The President's decision will be awaited with interest.

Thirdly, the President should win his election with ease, but this does not mean that he can carry the next Congress. He failed to carry the present Congress in 1954. As that election and many other events have proved, the President is far more popular with the voters than his party. The Democratic Party still seems to be the majority party, as it has been since the first days of Franklin Roosevelt.

veteran American political reporter, Mr. Walter Davenport, of Colliers, who recently traveled the entire nation, predicts that Mr. Eisenhower will be returned only to face a Democratic Congress. So it may well turn out.

Under most presidents this split would create a running fight between the executive and the legislature, but Mr. Eisenhower has shown in the last eighteen months that he can work perhaps better with the Democrats of the Congress than with his own followers. For in fact, the Democrats are closer to him in essentials than the right-wing Republicans.

If he retains his health, Mr. Eisenhower should be able to continue until the end of 1960 the same sort of moderate, middle-of-the-road government which he has pursued since 1953. The free world—though it has often criticized and sometimes modified his policies—will know that in the White House it still has a great and good friend.

Quebec Says Yes

THE LARGEST OBSTACLE IN the way of a satisfactory federal-provincial tax agreement has been removed. Quebec has accepted in principle (though there is some dispute in detail) the fiscal formula called Plan C. It is unlikely that any province, even British Columbia, will reject this formula, at the expense of levelling double taxation on the same corporate and private income.

Under this plan the provinces may follow Quebec's system, if they desire, and levy their own income taxes. Then their taxpayers will be exempted from federal taxes up to a fixed amount. Alternatively the provinces can allow the Federal Government to collect these taxes for them, up to the limits of the formula, thus saving the taxpayer from the need to submit two tax returns a year. Finally, the poorer provinces will receive federal equalization grants which will assure them the same per capita revenue from the basic taxes as those raised in the two richest provinces, British Columbia and Ontario.

Quebec has always resisted the present tax agreement on the ground that it invades provincial rights, and that federal subsidies to the provinces have constitutional strings attached to them. This is not true but Quebec's objections have been a grave cause of national disunity.

Now, apparently, this element of racial friction is to be removed. Every Canadian who understands the dual nature of his country will rejoice to find Quebec joining the other provinces in the friendly settlement of a long and divisive dispute.

Mr. Duplessis is preparing for an election before midsummer. In recent elections he has appealed to his voters as their sole protector against Ottawa's encroachments, and he has used the present tax formula as a proof of the Federal Government's attempt to dominate Quebec. It will be difficult for him to make this bogus case under the new arrangement. But doubtless he will find some other stick with which to baffle his Liberal enemies in Ottawa.

Meanwhile he says the Federal Government is pretending, under the new formula, to be making a gift to Quebec in the form of equalization payments when, in fact, it is granting Quebec no more than justice.

This statement is as absurd as Mr. Bennett's repeated charge that Quebec will receive a special subsidy, for the political purposes of the Federal Government.

Ottawa is not pretending to make any special concession to Quebec. It is making no special concession to any province. All are being treated absolutely alike on a mathematical basis.

Mr. Bennett quarrels with Ottawa not because Quebec is receiving privileged treatment but because British Columbia is not receiving it. Most British Columbians, we believe, will agree that their province should receive no more and no less than the rest of the nation.

All Together on the Outlet

VICTORIA, SAANICH AND relative departments of the Provincial Government have been informed that existing regulations within their respective jurisdictions will not necessarily prevent ribbon development on the new Island Highway outlet from the Fountain Circle to Goldstream.

Each can, and in some cases does, impose certain restrictions on the use of land bordering the highway or access to the traveled portion. But greater co-operation is required if the initial purpose of the new stretch—to facilitate the flow of traffic into and out of the city—is to be attained.

Hamlet and a BBC Omelet

THE INDIGNATION OF BRITISH television viewers over the interruption which cut short the presentation of "Hamlet" to permit a singing commercial for orange juice can be readily understood.

Here was Shakespearean tragedy scrambled by an advertiser in a way expert planners have detailed the means by which this objective can be reached. Chiefly the action required is specific zoning regulations, with adequate set-backs from the highway and the elimination of those establishments which would encourage pedestrians to cross the road indiscriminately. Beyond that, rules restricting access to the highway for cars should be tightened.

These are matters which call for clear thinking and co-operative action. Given that, the highway outlet should meet its purpose and not increase hazards which have already developed on it.

that could have done him little, or no good.

The Americans have a subtler touch. Their TV interjections seldom introduce orange juice. More frequently they feature the brewery product, which may be appropriate.

Whoever heard of anyone weeping into his orange juice?

Our Memories—Their National Sport

They Call for a Crash Program

BY JOSEPH and STEWART ALSOP From Washington

SENATOR WALTER GEORGE, whose foreign relations committee is now beginning its sweeping inquiry into what has gone wrong with American foreign policy, could do worse than ask another George to testify.

This other George is Lieutenant General Harold Lee George, retired, an able aircraft company executive who recently headed a top level presidential committee. The committee was assigned to report to the President and the National Security Council.

George answers to the following questions: Can the Soviets, with their new air-atomic power, knock out the United States as a functioning political, social, and military organism? And if they can't, how close can they come to doing so?

The committee had a top priority call on the government's intelligence talent. Its report to the President and the NSC is highly classified, as is now customary in such cases, although it dealt only with Soviet capabilities, and treated a subject of basic national interest.

But in general the answer of the General George Committee can be summed up about as follows: "Not yet, but quite soon. And even now they can almost certainly knock out the more exposed big cities, like New York."

WRONG PREMISE

The close connection between the work of the two George committees must surely be obvious. For one thing that has gone wrong with American foreign policy is the simple fact that it is based on a premise that is no longer true—that the United States, and only the United States, is capable of "massive retaliation."

Again and again at the recent twentieth Congress of the Soviet Communist Party, the Soviet oligarchs repeated the same chilling theme. President Eisenhower's old friend Marshal Zhukov for example, boasted of "mighty long range rockets," and warned that the continental United States would feel the force of Soviet nuclear weapons in case of world war. Such boasts, as we sadly know, must be taken very seriously.

They may, to be sure, be a little premature. Molotov boasted of the Soviet atomic bomb more than a year before the Soviets had one, and Malenkov anticipated events by several weeks when he boasted of the Soviet hydrogen bomb. A lone intercontinental Bison bomber was flown within easy camera range of the Western air attachés in Moscow, more than a year before the Soviets had the Bison in operational quantities.

As Our Readers See It

VAIN SACRIFICES

I do not think Jehovah's Witness followers are correct in their beliefs regarding blood transfusions.

Every living person began as a living embryo in its mother's womb, fed by her life-stream, bone of her bone, blood of her blood. Every normal child is born with a living life-stream of blood in its veins. Life without it is impossible.

Blood in this sense is not a food, but "the life-stream of the body."

Any normal parent would risk his or her precious soul to pour their life-blood into the veins of a beloved child to save its life. I do not think our Heavenly Father, whose name is love, would damn their souls for so doing.

This sect insists on literal interpretations and the letter of the law, disregarding hidden spiritual truths of the Bible. Then they set themselves as martyrs for Christ. Such sacrifices are vain and void.

My daughter's life was saved by blood transfusions. I am thankful to God who inspired this knowledge to our doctors.

A GRATEFUL MOTHER.

ANSWER TO ATOMIC WAR

A few days ago you printed a letter from the prolific pen of Mr. Pepper entitled "In Full Command." In this he argues that because there is a likelihood of an atomic war, therefore there is no God. This is a very foolish argument and shows an attitude which is likely to bring on what he fears.

In the 24th chapter of St. Matthew's Gospel, the Lord Jesus Christ foretells very much what is happening today. He also gives the reason why: Because there will be little faith in God on the earth. This is very true today, largely the result of atheist teaching by so-called intellectuals during the last 75 years, and especially of Communism. This latter has already forced hundreds of millions of people behind the iron curtain to deny God.

In Hitler was of the international uses of fear. Marshal Zhukov's "mighty long range rockets," although they no doubt exist in test form, are probably not yet usable as weapons. But by the same token, they soon will be.

Yet even the limited capability ascribed by the General George Committee transforms the world situation, as the Soviets are well aware. A second recurring theme in all the Soviet speeches was that, in effect, a condition of atomic stalemate had been reached; and that, with the American atomic ace trumped, it will be easy for the Communist bloc to trump progressively all the West's other and lesser cards.

This trumping of the lesser cards is already well under way, notably in the Middle East and Asia, where the new Soviet policy is radically different from the policy of the Stalin era, and infinitely more effective. Yet, on both the defense and foreign policy front, we continue to act as though things are as they were.

One government cynic has defined our current foreign policy as "out of date." George Kennan, warmed over and diluted with George Humphrey. In other words, it is containment at cut rates.

APPOINT A COMMITTEE

As for the Pentagon, it has gone in for issuing reassuring statements, and appointing committees. The George Committee is about the tenth assigned to examine essentially the same subject—and the search is now on for someone to head another committee to do the same thing all over again.

A second government cynic has said that the government now takes its cue from Libby Holman's old song, revised from "Make Me Another Old Fashioned" to "Appoint Me Another Committee." These special committees always operate in an aura of secrecy. But the essential facts are clear to any informed man, and so, in broad terms, are the reactions they logically call for.

They call for a "crash" program to assure, at the very least, that Sir Winston Churchill's "peace of mutual terror" is truly mutual; and for a basic revision of American policy to meet the new situation of atomic stalemate. But double B-52 production, for example, or devise an effective policy to meet the new Soviet economic challenge in Asia and the Middle East, would be difficult and expensive. In an election year, it is most unlikely that it will be done.

From Our Files

March 1, 1896 — Mayor Bell of Spokane, speaking of the condition of his city, is quoted as saying it is due largely to the boom the Trail Creek country is enjoying. Many mines are owned by Spokane men.

March 1, 1916 — Paris — Today's official report shows the French lines in the immediate vicinity of Verdun are holding firm. The German attack is developing to the east and south-east of the city.

March 1, 1936 — The shortage of eggs continues in Victoria. Today most of the distributors find their supplies are about one-third of what they usually are at this season. Grade A large are 37 cents wholesale.

No wonder the State Department is not finding it easy to dispose of the surplus in a hurry. The department is, in fact, in a jam. It is under pressure from Congress to dump the surplus and under attack abroad from the countries which suffer from the dumping.

It is almost certainly an error to think that our farm troubles can be solved, or even appreciably alleviated, by the effort to get rid of the surpluses port of our Social Credit League members from coast to coast.

With the force of a mighty tidal wave from the Pacific, Social Credit moves eastward.

MILITARY TRAINING

At the annual boxing tournament of the Canadian Services Colleges (Royal Roads, Royal Military College, and College Militaire Royal) at Royal Roads gymnasium, one again observed splendid specimens of our Canadian youth quietly engaged in competitive sporting bouts demanding physical fitness, alertness, skill and stamina. The officer-cadets gave admirable expression to wholesome manhood instincts of courage and good sportsmanship.

But what seemed most impressive was the fact that these fine, well-disciplined young gentlemen, along with their smart-looking fellow-cadets observed in the audience, are training as volunteers, to serve Canada as Naval, Air Force, and Army officers, ready to respond effectively to any national emergency. We should all be very proud of them!

The ubiquitous "zoot-suiters" and hoodlums, who try to damage the good reputation of young Canadian manhood, should make an effort occasionally to observe closely the exemplary behaviour of officer-cadets at our military colleges, and be inspired to conduct themselves accordingly, with or without a uniform!

BIG CAR-SMALL BRAIN

I think it would be a safe bet that not one motor-car dealer in ten nor one driver in a hundred could give in feet per second the cumulative speed of two cars approaching one another at a speed of 60 miles per hour respectively. Quite a large proportion would probably make a grievous error in computing the same with pen and paper!

It seems to me that the Shell Oil Company is to be congratulated for its series of advertisements calculated to produce safer driving habits among motorists. The second of the series was specially effective: that there should be an interval of five car-lengths between any two cars traveling at the speed of 50 miles per hour. The reason for that is obvious and has been stressed, I know, by Sgt. Brooke Douglass in his observations on driving. But this desirable state of affairs is never observed.

Some years ago, driving south towards Portland, I experienced a situation that might have become a motoring holocaust. Two streams of cars were converging at fairly high speed. A California car fourth in its line of six, pulled out and only by Providence missed the first of the cars approaching it. Had a collision taken place it must have involved about ten or twelve cars. The Latin tag has it that "a word to the wise is enough," but the operative word, in the maxim is "wise" and wisdom is not always to be found among motorists, the more's the pity.

If it is not to be expected that the driver who has just bought a 200 h.p. car will, sooner or later, wish to find out what speed it can attain? I have it on good authority that some 50 h.p. cars can do nearly 80 m.p.h. without any great amount of shuddering. If that be so, then what speed can these new high-powered cars attain? And what more awful combination can one imagine than tremendous mechanical power and a midget brain in control? I see that down in Florida these midget brains have attempted to turn the city streets into race-tracks. Definitely this is a cock-eyed world.

Tried Favorites

BECAUSE spring has been so long a-coming, and I've grown tired of feverish colds, and of recumbent forms in bed, I've tried to cheer my drooping spirits by reading what I call "Springtime Books."

I've read dozens of the lovely poems with which English writers greet the spring. (And no wonder when you think what an English winter can be like, and how cold the English houses are!)

I've skimmed Frances Hodgson Burnett's "The Secret Garden" because I have a very great affection for this rather ancient book, and read it almost every spring.

Briefly, it's the story of a spoiled, sallow, delicate orphan from India who was sent to her peculiar uncle's house on the Yorkshire moors.

It is, I think, a lovely springtime book. As a child, I read it simply for the story, now, as an adult, I am aware of the philosophy running through it. And though in places it seems old-fashioned, I'd hate to be without it in the month of February.

I've also been re-reading "Flower Fairies of the Spring," written and illustrated by Cicely M. Barker. It's a tiny little book, but I'm sure that lots of English-born Victorians know it. And our Canadian-born children loved it in the years when they were very young.

Its charm lies partly in the delightful illustrations, and partly in the simplicity of the verses. They're not great poetry by any means, but they catch the spirit of the spring-time flowers.

LONDON LETTER

Our copy is extra-worn opposite the picture of the Willow-Catkin Fairy. He's a sturdy little creature, dressed in yellow and a soft, soft grey. He's cheerfully holding up a two-pronged twig of pussy-willow. The poem with it isn't very long. It goes:

The people call me Palm, they do;
They call me Pussy-willow, too;
And when I'm full in bloom, the bees
Come humming round my yellow trees.

The people trample round about
And spoil the little trees, and about;
My shiny twigs are thin and brown;
The people pull and break them down.

- Oh, you may pick a piece, you may
(So dear and silky, soft and grey);
But if you're rough and greedy, why
"You'll make the little fairies cry."

The whole book is full of the spirit of spring. One by one, the springtime blooms pass by—snowdrop, hazel catkin, coltsfoot, groundsel, primrose, dandelion, daffodil, gaudine, and hawthorn.

If you want to be stodgy about it, the book is thoroughly educational, though I'm sure that Cicely M. Barker didn't plan it in an educational way. She simply loved flowers and little children.

The book springs, I'm sure from her conviction that

The world is very old
But year by year
It grows new again
When buds appear.

* * *

And the buds can't appear too soon for me. I've had it so far as this winter is concerned.

Monorail to the Airport

LONDON—There's a plan to speed up travel between the centre of the city and London's airport. Now if you go by car there is the best part of an hour wasted in finding your way through the traffic; if you try it by train and bus it's a lengthy and complicated business because the airport is not on the main public transport routes.

The new idea would make use of the "monorail," developed on the Continent. This is like New York's elevated railway except that the supports hold up a single rail onto which the train is locked. This makes for great speeds, especially as, unlike conventional train tracks, the monorail is banked at corners.

British European Airways, who first suggested the plan to the Ministry of Transport, envisages a 100-mph. shuttle service doing the 17-mile trip in comfort in quarter of the time taken by a hired car, at a fare of 75 cents instead of the $7 for hiring a car.

The Transport Ministry now has a special committee looking into the scheme. One stumbling block might be the $25-million cost of the scheme. But BEA officials say that something will eventually have to be done about the increasing road traffic chaos on this route and a monorail would be cheaper than widening the roads.

AVA GARDNER continues to be obsessed by that part she played a year or so ago in

The Barefoot Contessa. She is carrying over into her private life some of the characteristics of that colorful contessa and the other evening at a nightclub here she got so carried away with doing some flamenco dancing to the cabaret's Spanish orchestra that she was reluctant to leave the floor.

By 5 a.m. she was still at it, with the place deserted except for herself, the band and the waiters. The owner said tactfully that it was time she went home, to which she replied that in that case she would take the band with her.

The band went into action in her hotel suite at the Savoy and it wasn't until seven o'clock in the morning that she gave her wild fling of Spanish dance steps a rest. Heavy-lidded, the members of the orchestra went to their homes, remarking: "She's quite a girl."

THE IRISH TOURIST BUREAU says that last year, as always, U.S. citizens were the best spenders of all visitors to Ireland. Each spent an average of $45 on souvenirs. Next were Canadians, $25 a head. Bottom of the list—the English, each of whom felt it only worth while to put out $6 for something to remember Ireland by.

AMUSED INTEREST being shown here that the great Sir Laurence Olivier is likely to play opposite Marilyn Monroe in a film version of Terence Rattigan's play, The Sleeping Prince. The project has reached the stage where Marilyn Monroe Productions has sent over to London for the costumes used on the stage to be shipped to Hollywood—all except svelte Vivien Leigh's dresses. It's not felt they will be a fit for Marilyn's 37-23-34.

Victoria police commission opposed Wednesday a plan by Fort Street furniture dealer Lew Macdonald to display $64,000 in $50 bills in his front window, today until Saturday.

The commission will warn the dealer he will be entitled to only regular protection. "We can't pull men off other beats and leave those areas unprotected," said Police Chief John Blackstock.

Shallots Grow Easily
But Won't Stay Put

Shallots are so absurdly easy to grow that even a child cannot fail, and they are the mildest flavored of the onion family.

But they have one innocent fad or whimsy—they won't stay put. You plant them either in October or March by pressing the bulbs just into the soil, and then a frost lifts them.

The shallot is as modest as its flavor, mild, and no amount of high culture will give the onions for stews and certain results clever gardeners achieve sauces. Pickled with a leaf or with leeks and the common two of sage, they make a perfect marriage with cold meats.

Any good garden soil, well with tremendous bulbs and leeks, dug, and a pound of shallots with long necks, but one well-grown shallot is exactly like any other well-grown shallot. They add up to many a delightfully tasty meal through fall and

Contamination Affects Wells In Harewood

NANAIMO—Sewage seepage is contaminating Harewood wells, it was disclosed by water board trustees Tuesday.

Chairman Alex Virostko said "about 11 homes may be affected by the sewage seepage. Fortunately we will be able to get a proper water supply to those people without difficulty. But it does point up the urgency of the sewage problem here."

He said the situation could lead to an epidemic, and that there is a possibility of it affecting all residents in the area, whether they use wells or not.

"We may be forced to use our powers to compel householders to connect to water mains if they are reluctant to do so," he said.

Brothers Charged In Robbery Case

NANAIMO—Ernest and William Mernikle of Nanaimo have been charged with robbery, and will appear in police court March 6.

The victim of a beating, Gopal Mamu laid the charge in which he stated he was robbed and beaten in his home last Monday. He said he was beaten up and bound by two thugs who entered his home.

After sitting down for a few minutes after entering, Mamu said the men threatened him with a knife, struck him, and demanded money. The victim handed over $75 in cash and a signed letter giving authority to his attackers to draw money from his bank account.

Police have reportedly recovered the money and the document. Meanwhile, the Mernikle brothers are released on bail of $4,000 each.

Post Office Marks Nanaimo's Growth

'Symbolic' of Trend in Canada, Minister States at Ceremony

By GEORGE MOLECYE
Times Nanaimo Correspondent

NANAIMO—The new $1,000,000 federal building opened here Wednesday by Defence Minister Ralph Campbell was termed "symbolic of the growth of Canada and particularly of the Nanaimo and Vancouver Island area."

He quoted figures to show how Nanaimo's postal revenues had climbed from $44,000 in 1940 to $153,000 last year.

The building, finest in Nanaimo, has been erected on the site of the old post office. It will house the Unemployment Insurance Commission and departments of labor, fisheries, customs and immigration in addition to the postal departments. To conform with a federal standardized plan of numbering post boxes, a number of Nanaimites have had their addresses changed. The change will facilitate sorting and speed delivery of mail to box-holders.

LARGE CROWD

Mr. Campbell cut the symbolic ribbon in the presence of Mayor Earle Westwood, senior federal civil servants, dignitaries and a large crowd of citizens.

Actual operation of the building and passage of mail will not commence until March 5. The delay is planned to move certain machinery files and equipment to the new building during the weekend.

Mayor Earle Westwood said "The completion of this impressive new building in this city is a tribute to Nanaimo and will serve as another landmark in the years to come. Nanaimo, as the hub of Vancouver Island, is still on the climb upwards... rapidly developing, ever expanding, heading for greatness beyond our fondest expectations."

Official appointment of Nanaimo's new postmaster has not yet been received from Ottawa, but word is expected shortly that James Dean of Courtenay will be named.

The survey followed a request from a fraternal order that wishes to hold its 1957 provincial convention in Duncan, which would be attended by 800 delegates and their wives. The area included in the survey ranged from the Malahat to Saltair. Mr. Creighton reported at a chamber meeting.

Even without the impetus of any industrial development the value of property improvements in the city of Duncan has increased $300,000 since 1946.

Mayor Jack Dobson told the chamber. He reviewed the growth of service offered by the city in the last decade, and said the chief role of Duncan is that of service centre for the Cowichan district.

Along with the city's improvements in water supply and sewage, he revealed that a new type of street lighting is to be introduced here. He also said the provincial government parks branch is interested in seeing a riverside park opposite Silver Bridge Inn on the Trans-Canada Highway.

He said the situation could lead to an epidemic, and that there is a possibility of it affecting all residents in the area, whether they use wells or not.

"We may be forced to use our powers to compel householders to connect to water mains if they are reluctant to do so," he said.

LOGGER KILLED AT RAMSAY ARM

CAMPBELL RIVER—A Vancouver logger, Charles Lawlor, was killed Wednesday at the Belair camp of Henry Larsen Logging Company on Ramsay Arm.

Dr. Patrick Moloney was flown to the scene by B.C. Airlines, but found Lawlor dead on his arrival at the camp. Details of the accident are not known.

An inquest will be held Friday.

Plane-Cable Crash Query Begun

VANCOUVER (CP)—An investigation was started Wednesday into an accident 150 miles north of here in which a B.C. Airlines plane struck a cable across Seymour Narrows, the district controller of air services said.

Airline officials said Peter Lauren, the pilot, and logger Mitchell Dan Holt, the passenger, both of Campbell River, were unhurt. Lauren landed the light plane "right side up" after the mishap.

The controller said a regular notice on presence of the cable was posted early this month. The pilot said he knew of the wire, but thought it was about 300 feet above the water. He said he was looking upward for it when the float of his plane hooked it.

After landing the crippled aircraft, he radioed for help and a fishboat towed the plane to Campbell River.

ART STOTT

Still Waiting

The public crammed the galleries again Wednesday afternoon and evening and once more left without seeing the big scene.

The event for which they waited is the reply to retiring Lands and Forest Minister Robert Sommers' free-swinging attacks, mainly against the Liberals and this newspaper, in the latest important development in the Sturdy affair.

Once again Premier Bennett stage-managed the opportunity to reply off the day's program.

The issue is most likely to come before the House in discussion of lands and forest department estimates, where the minister's salary can provoke debate.

Mr. Bennett seems anxious to delay the matter until the last possible moment. His political acumen and knowledge of procedure help him.

The House did go into estimates briefly Wednesday night, handled a few innocuous votes, and then the premier called for bills. It's all perfectly legal.

There is still legislation to put through and the lands and forest estimates do not have to pre-cede it.

LEFT HANGING

Still the Sommers' resignation issue—and all that is involved in it hangs in the air, brings crowds to the galleries and makes weary legislators a little more edgy.

The afternoon got off to a rough start over the suspension of Sergeant-at-Arms Jamieson. Mr. Jamieson was temporarily relieved of his duties by Mr. Speaker for the official's admission that he had said he was out to "break" Lands and Forest Minister Sommers on the Casier-Stewart road trouble now before an inquiring committee.

The Opposition raised a neat point. Mr. Jamieson, its members argued, appeared before the committee as an engineer called to give evidence, not as an official of the House. How could he be suspended, asked CCF spokesmen, from office for something he did in another capacity as a witness?

It's up to the House to decide the final outcome of the suspension.

ISOLATION

One other incident kept Mr. Speaker on his toes during the day. Mr. Alex Matthew, sitting as chairman while the House was in committee, delivered himself of an amazing ruling. Catching sight of an attendant carrying a note from a guest on the floor of the House to a member, he declared that no notes might be passed to members from points outside the chamber.

Opposition members jumped to challenge the ruling. Mr. Matthew, who also has done without a lot of sleep at this stage of the session, called for a vote to sustain the chair.

Tony Gargrave asked for information on the procedure and the House could take notes, none could be passed to members by such guests. It wasn't the subject of the vote, but it got Mr. Matthew off the hook.

The message that caused the uproar? A note from a member's wife telling him that she had to leave.

The business went on, with a long debate on a Hansard for the provincial House. Mr. Bennett doesn't seem to want one. His side seems unanimous in agreeing with what he wants. There won't be any Hansard in the near future.

And the members formally placed themselves on record in

Alta. Cabinet Minister Owed $11,000 to Treasury Branch

EDMONTON (CP) — The com-picipal affairs, showed he borrowed money appointed by the Alberta various amounts to buy and sell government to probe opposition houses in Edmonton.

The details were brought out during questioning of A. K. Olive, superintendant of the treasury branches which operate along the lines of bank branches, by J. V.

Hilvain of Calgary, counsel for the Alberta Liberal Association.

The commission adjourned to-day after completing investigation of Mr. Hooke's dealings with the branches. The commission also heard about the dealings of H. E. Debolt, former Social Credit member of the legislature for Spirit River.

Mr. Hooke's borrowings from 1943 were brought out in question of Mr. Olive by Mr. Hilvain. Mr. Hooke, elected to the legislature in the Social Credit landslide of 1935, has held various cabinet posts since 1943.

HISTORY OF HANGING

Jurors, Bankers Urged Abolition

In view of the public interest in the recent vote to abolish the death penalty in Britain, and the imminence of the report of the Canadian committee of capital punishment which will be brought down in the Commons during this session, the Victoria Daily Times is publishing a series of articles by noted writer Arthur Koestler. They are condensed from his forthcoming book, "Reflections on Hanging."

By ARTHUR KOESTLER

That England shook off the nightmare of the Bloody Code which the Lords of the Law sought to perpetuate was entirely due to a revolt of public opinion. It started with two remarkable petitions from the proprietors of the bleaching-ground establishments and calico printers of London, in which these worthies asked that stealing from their establishments should cease to be a capital offence because juries habitually refused to convict the thieves.

A flood of similar petitions followed—by 1819 there were no fewer than 12,000 of them—all on the same lines: that the archaic severity of the law made its enforcement impossible, and thus destroyed its deterrent effect; that in the interest of public safety, milder punishments should be imposed. It was a revolt of conscience combined with common sense, culminating in the remarkable petition of the jurors of London of November, 1830. It ran:

That in the present state

Juries Went on Strike

The deterrent of the gallows' torment to abolish the death affected the jury more than the penalty for forgery—not for criminal; the juries went on any sentimental, humanitarian strike, as it were. They made motives, but to protect them. It was a time when a thief of goods solves against the forgers to worth 40 shillings was a capital whom the gallows proved no offence, to assess the value of the goods at 30 shillings; and when, in 1827, the capital offence was raised to five pounds, the juries raised their assessment to four pounds 19 shillings.

Present-day juries bring in verdicts of "guilty, but insane" in cases where, according to medical evidence and the judge's direction, the accused must be regarded as sane before the law. "It would be following strict precedent," Mr. Gardiner, QC, wrote recently in the Law Quarterly, "for the perversity of jurors to be prelude to reform."

The perversity of the jurors reached such an extent that it led, in 1830, to another famous "Petition of Bankers from 214 cities and towns" urging par-

'Oracles' Steadfastly Opposed

Few of the bankers may have read Beccaria or Jeremy Bentham, and few would probably have subscribed to their philosophy. Yet for reasons of hardened expediency, they subscribed to the theory of the "minimum effective penalty." It took parliament another six years to abolish capital punishment for forgery. The oracles, among them Chief Justice Lord Mansfield, uttered their usual warnings that this measure would lead to the "destruction of trade and commerce." The quasi-religious belief in the deterrent value of hanging was beautifully summed up by a judge at Stafford Assizes, who, having sentenced to death a prisoner for passing on a forged one pound note, thus exhorted him to prepare for the journey to another world:

And I trust that, through the merits and mediation of our blessed Redeemer, you may there experience that mercy which a due regard for the credit of the paper currency of the country forbids you to hope for here.

Yet when death for forgery was abolished, the number of commitments for that crime fell from 213 in the three years before repeal to 180 in the subsequent three years.

New Bank Move Cuts Chances Of Inflation

15% of Deposits Must Be 'Liquid'

OTTAWA (CP) — Canada's chartered banks have agreed at the urging of the Bank of Canada to maintain a 15-per-cent floor in the ratio of liquid assets to deposits, providing a new central weapon to fight any threatening inflation.

The floor, first of its kind for Canada, becomes effective June 1. It will mean less money available for loans.

Banks now are increasing their holdings of liquid assets—cash, treasury bills and day-to-day loans—to meet the floor. The ratio was 11.3 per cent last November when the move was made; it now is about 14 per cent.

The chartered banks also have agreed on the insistence of the central bank to halt term lending and this was done last December, governor James E. Coyne of the Bank of Canada said at a press conference and in his annual report tabled today in the Commons.

Term loans are those running between one and 10 years, usually made to big corporations which might find it cheaper to borrow directly from banks than to float bond issues in the securities market.

COULD BORROW IN U.S.

Mr. Coyne conceded that the two moves could lead to increased borrowings by Canadians in the United States, with the liquid asset ratio curb providing a new limiting factor in bank credit.

But the ratio floor, he said, will make for a financial system which will respond "more quickly, smoothly and predictably to measures of monetary restraint when these are required in the future and which will thus be better able to serve the national interest."

Parliament has given the central bank power to control bank credit through, among other things, fixing of the ratio of bank cash to deposits in a range between eight and 12 per cent.

Britain maintains a 30-per-cent floor in its ratio of liquid assets to deposits, but Mr. Coyne explained that British banks hold less savings than do Canadian banks. The U.S. has no liquid asset floor, but its banks maintain high cash ratios, in some cases up to 16 or 18 per cent compared with eight per cent in Canada. Mr. Coyne said.

DIET TRY FAILS TO SAVE MARRIAGE

CHICAGO (AP) — A divorce decree Wednesday ended the marriage of a woman who tried to save it by slimming down from 190 pounds to her wedding day weight of 127.

Mrs. Lucille Korzen, 44, leveled off at 140 by October 20, 1955, but her husband said he wouldn't take her back at 95 pounds.

The husband, Michael, 43, felt the same way today so Judge Charles Dougherty granted the woman a divorce on ground of desertion.

Judge Cornelius Harrington suggested the weight-reducing diet as a possible marriage saver.

TV Makers Urge CBC Adopt Color

OTTAWA (CP) — The CBC should adopt color television now, the Gordon economic commission was told today.

The Radio-Electronics Television Manufacturers' Association of Canada advocated this as a step to encourage the development of electronics in Canada.

The association, in a brief to the government, should direct the CBC to provide leadership in advancing electronics and accused the agency of having an "inhibitive, negative and non-competitive" policy.

The brief said minor and inexpensive modifications to transmitters would make available to Canadians in the United States color programs which the CBC now transmits in black and white.

This would create a demand for color receivers, and Canadian receivers, and Canadian manufacturers then could design and produce them in advance of the time when the CBC would be creating its own color transmissions.

Churchill Resumes Vacation on Riviera

Britain's senior statesman returned here three weeks ago to see his wife before she left for a holiday in Ceylon. He did not return to the south of France until now because of the cold spell in Europe.

Crimes by Juveniles Up Sharply in City

Car Thefts By Under-18's Lead List; Chief Hints 2nd Youth Officer Needed

Crime and juvenile delinquency are both on the increase in Victoria, but "... the situation is fairly well under control," police chief John Blackstock told the police commission Wednesday.

Forgery and theft sharply increased in Victoria during 1955. The value of stolen property jumped from $3,203 to $85,528. Police recovered stolen goods worth $53,990, which the chief commented.

Juvenile court listed 303 charges in 1955 as compared with 180 the year previous.

In January this year 34 juveniles were charged with misdemeanours, compared with 18 in the previous month. Thirty-one per cent of youths involved live outside the city limits.

The chief pointed out that appointment of another juvenile officer is indicated due to the increased activity. Theft and taking of cars without owners' consent were the two most common convictions for the under-18s last month.

The chief said narcotics offenses have been kept to a minimum in the last year.

Pines in 1955 jumped to $141 from $84,087 in 1954.

TWO-MAN PROWL CARS

The police commission will study a police union request for two-man patrol cars during consideration of estimates.

The decision followed receipt of a letter from the police union by the commission Wednesday. The union charged that one-man prowler cars are practically useless.

Chief John Blackstock backed the union in its request but pointed out he lacks manpower enough to man each prowler with two officers. The chief wants five additional men on the force this year.

Judgment Reserved In Libel Appeals

VANCOUVER (CP) — Judgment on an application to set aside $30,000 awarded in libel actions against the Toronto tabloid Flash has been reserved by Mr. Justice J. O. Wilson.

The articles in question were published in Flash magazine Dec. 11, 1954, and Jan. 8, 1955.

Plaintiffs were Hugo Krauner and Ideal Cleaners and Laundry Ltd. of Prince Rupert.

The plaintiffs, each awarded $15,000, attached $14,000 in garnishee proceedings and the money is in court.

"my washday worries are over!"

"Washdays have been worry-free for me ever since I bought my new automatic clothes dryer almost a year ago. Drying had always been the hardest part of my washdays. It has eliminated the time taken in pegging and straightening the clothes. Now, my dryer does all the hard work, while I tend to other household chores."

DAILY PAPER SALES REACH ALL-TIME HIGH

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Newspaper circulation in the United States broke all records last year, says the 88th annual edition of N. W. Ayer and Son's Directory of News and Periodicals.

The Ayer directory, published Wednesday, says combined circulation of all English-language American editions reached 55,047,000 by the end of 1955. This was an increase of close to 1,000,000 copies daily over the previous year.

Zimmerman Takes Over Solandt Job

OTTAWA (CP) — A. Hartley Zimmerman today succeeded Dr. O. M. Solandt as chairman of the Defence Research Board.

Dr. Solandt, board head since its founding in 1947, has become live-sergeant who is said to have split gamblers' bribes with former police chief Walter Mulligan, said Wednesday he only hopes now that he can keep his family together.

Chief John Blackstock backed the union in its request but pointed out he lacks manpower enough to man each prowler with two officers. The chief wants five additional men on the force this year.

Negro President For Oxford Union

OXFORD, Eng. (Reuters) — Roy Dickson, a 26-year-old Jamaican Negro, in two weeks will take over Oxford University's most important student post—the presidency of the Oxford Union.

Dickson said Tuesday he will not be the first Negro head of the union. He recalled that during the Second World War another West Indian, Cameron Tudo, of Barbados, filled the post.

Regional director of the department of health and welfare, W. R. Bone, said $3,789,519 was paid to 94,167 pensioners, and $2,485,535 was distributed to 196,167 families for a total of 410,702 children.

IT'S MY VIEW
BY Bill Walker

VANCOUVER—The scouts were out in full force here Tuesday night.

Cochrane Billy Reay of the Americans was up from Seattle; Max McNab of the Royals who "lives about five minutes from the Forum," was also taking notes.

There was a meeting between the western division leaders, Cougars and Canucks, and the Rangers, Royals and Americans were interested because one of them will be in the round-robin semifinal three weeks hence. The other won't:

McNab was confident his Royals could make it. He expressed the thought the Canucks had lost their fine edge and may have a hard time regaining it, especially as all games from now on, virtually are the playoff type. He thought, too, that Canuck goalie Ray Mikulan was showing effects of the strain that accompanies a Canuck record of only one win and one tie in their last 11 games.

"He appears jittery," confided McNab, whose Royals play here Friday.

Reay did his research from the press box, as did league president Al Leader.

Leader's main concern at the moment is drafting a suitable schedule for the round-robin playoffs. But all he can say on the subject is that the first-place team gets the choice of opponent and ice.

Baseball Will Do Okay—Coley

And this was Tuesday night, at the Vancouver Forum, and the unsmiling figure in the familiar polo coat was Coleman E. Hall, owner of the Canucks and operator of other sundry interests.

Coleman E., it will be recalled, was the agent at large who did much to secure the Coast League baseball franchise for Vancouver.

One of the subjects of Sunday sport as it may affect the Mounties (that's the name of the ball club, horrid as it is), Coleman E. didn't appear too concerned.

"I don't think," he said, "that the issue of Sunday sport concerning baseball is too serious. Nor is it as much a factor as it would have been a few years ago. Mind you, I would like to see it, but I do think that baseball will draw regardless."

And this was the same Coleman E. Hall, who, a game ago, said to a reporter from a Vancouver daily:

"I thought I told you to keep out of our dressing room; if I didn't, I will now. Get out and stay out."

Marc Has Been Doing It for Years

And this was Tuesday night, and the post-mortems were being discussed outside the Vancouver dressing room.

A familiar figure appeared, but now in street attire, remarking as he stopped to pass the time of night:

"That Pelletier. He's been beating me for years. You think he was hot tonight (Pelletier starring the 2-2 Canuck-Cougar tie), well let me tell you something."

"I remember one night we went into Chicoutimi (Quebec Senior Hockey League), outshot them 42-13, and walked out with a 2-1 defeat. That was Pelletier, too."

This week's quickie, or was Al's face red?

Commenting on the performance of the Seattle Americans recently, WHL president Al Leader remarked of the particular game at which he was a TV guest:

"WE aren't doing so well tonight."

Grey Cup Game To Be Rotated?

TORONTO (BUP)—Toronto will be the site for next fall's Grey Cup game, Montreal for the 1957 east-west football classic and Vancouver in 1958, football tipsters predicted Wednesday night.

Canada's top football men have arrived here for Saturday's Canadian rugby union annual meeting. It is expected they will settle the Grey Cup question Friday morning.

Observers speculated the CRU would decide on a new, three-way circuit of Toronto, Montreal and Vancouver for the cup.

Toronto and Vancouver have submitted bids to be host this fall. The gridiron policymakers also are expected to consider that Montreal's proposed 40,000-seat stadium will be ready for the 1957 season.

Players,
Fans Riot
At Kamloops

KAMLOOPS, B.C. (CP)—What was described by a witness as a "general riot" broke out Wednesday night between fans attending an Okanagan Senior Hockey League game here and players of the Vernon Canadians.

Kamloops Elks defeated the league-leading Canadians 5-4.

The affray started 25 seconds from the end of the penalty-strewn game. Art Hart, 20-year-old Vernon left-winger, was given a minor penalty, but on his way to the box he lashed Elk defenceman Don Busch across the side of the head with his stick.

Hart, given a major penalty for slashing with intent to injure and a misconduct, left the ice. A section of the crowd of 1,400 persons then began to fight with some Vernon players.

A young, unidentified woman was hurt in the crush that followed. Extent of her injuries was not immediately known.

Earlier, Vernon playing captain Johnny Harms was given a 10-minute misconduct penalty and finally a game misconduct for protesting a minor, proved against him in the first period.

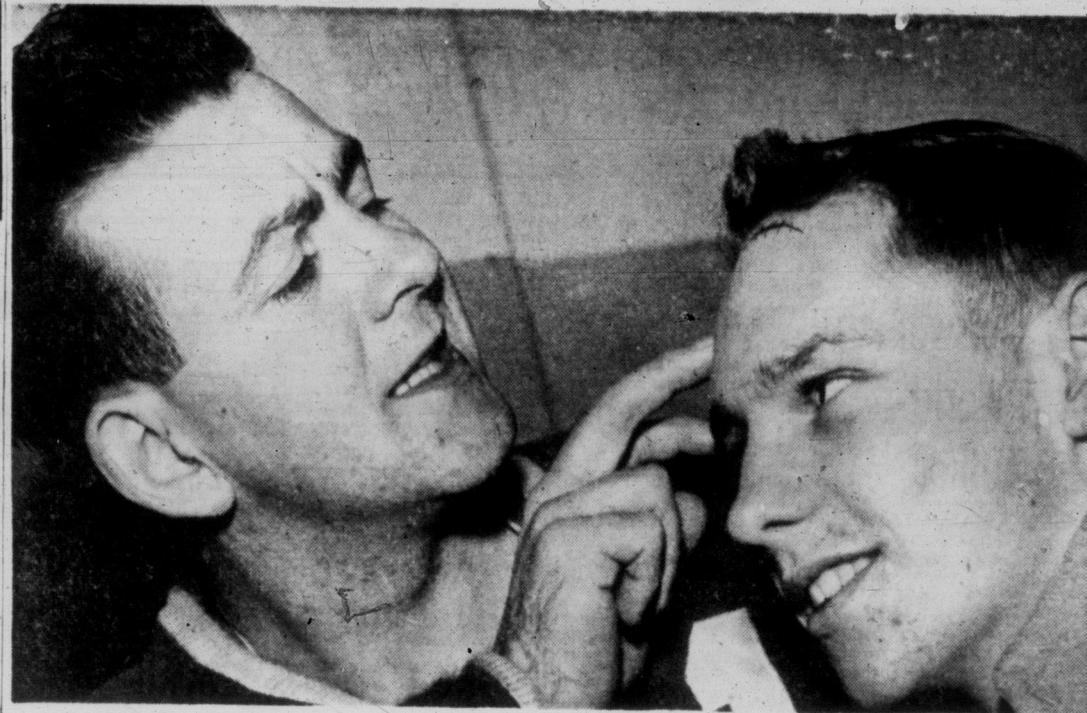

Kamloops' victory gave them a 1-1 tie in games in the best-of-seven semifinal playoff.

By the Canadian Press Tod Sloan of Toronto scored his 26th goal while New York's Andy Bathgate got his 42nd assist in Wednesday night's National Hockey League action to consolidate their positions in the individual scoring race.

Rangers Certain Of Berth

New York 4, Boston 2

Toronto 4, Montreal 1

By The Canadian Press

Phil Watson's collection of record-wreckers will be in the National Hockey League's Stanley Cup playoffs this year for the first time in six seasons.

New York Rangers, 13 of whom have never been in big-league play-off competition, assumed themselves of a berth in the four-team NHL semi-finals by defeating Boston Bruins 4-2 Wednesday night at the New York Coliseum.

At Toronto in the other NHL game, the Maple Leafs brightened their playoff hopes by whipping Montreal Canadiens 4-1. Montreal finished first place last weekend.

The New York win—before 9,288 fans—was their 29th of the season, equaling the all-time club record. With eight games to go in the regular schedule, the Blueshirts can beat that mark and also the record of most points in a season—68.

RECORDS WILT

The New Yorkers already have set team records in scoring points and assists and need 10 goals to break the mark for most goals in one term. Another record that has fallen is the club's penalty minutes. The team has spent 925 minutes in penalties, 151 more than the record 774 in 1950-51.

Rookie Bruno Horvath paced Rangers with a goal and two assists. Danny Lewicki, Walt Hergesheimer and Andy Hebezon scored the other New York goals. Fleming MacKell and Cal Gardner tallied for Bruins.

A sell-out crowd of 14,343 fans watched as Leafs moved four points up on fifth-place Boston as they came up with a surprisingly strong game. The power-laden Canadiens managed only 18 shots on goaltender Harry Lumley. Capitains' Jacques Plante was handling 26 drives.

Rudy Migay, recognized more as a defensive specialist, scored two Toronto goals. Tod Sloan got his 36th marker and Billy Harris scored the other. Dickie Moore was the Montreal marksman.

Toronto has 54 points with seven games left in the schedule. Bruins, with 50 points, have eight games to go.

FONTINATO MAKES GARDEN TURNSTILES CLICK

Lou No Gem, But a Real Darling

NEW YORK (UP)—The New York Rangers have made hockey Madison Square Garden's "bread and butter" sport this year and the major credit belongs to a soft-spoken but hard-hitting defenceman named Lou Fontinato.

It's been only a year since the 24-year-old Fontinato appeared for the first time in New York but he's already the unquestioned favorite of the Garden's gallery gods.

Coach Phil Watson deserves all the praise he's received for the Rangers' surprising showing but it's "Louie the Leaper" who's made that "turnstile music" which Garden officials love so well.

The Rangers, orphans of

New York—sports for five years, will show a tremendous profit this season. They've replaced boxing, college and pro basketball and the amateur track meets as the big Garden winter money-maker by a wide margin.

"Fiery Phil," as Watson is known in New York, has cracked the whip over the Rangers all season but it's Fontinato, on no less than Montreal's stick-wielding Maurice (Rocket) Richard and stunned him with one punch to the delight of a capacity house of 15,000 fans.

Fontinato's hard-hitting tactics—with 177 minutes in the penalty box he already is the National Hockey League's all-time "bad man"—have made him a marked man around the circuit but the boos don't bother him a bit.

"The more they boo the better I figure I'm playing," he says.

Otherwise the top seven remained unchanged.

Mount View High School Scene of Island Tourney

Twitter Hill, Buzz Jacklin, Laurie Veitch, Chumby Crabbe and Tommy English will be moving over to make room for one more Saturday night.

All former winners of The Times Trophy, they will be joined in posterity this weekend by one of the 80 or more players taking part in the sixth annual Vancouver Island high school basketball tournament at Mount View High School gym.

The Times Trophy is presented to the player deemed most valuable to his team during the two-day tournament and the winner will be selected by a panel of judges.

OPEN IN MORNING

The almost non-stop tournament gets under way at 10 Friday morning with four games slated in the day round. Second round will be played Friday night starting at 6, with the third and final round getting underway Saturday night at 6. The top two teams in the tournament will clash in the final Saturday night for the Island championship. The Colonist trophy and the right to represent the Island in the B.C. high school tournament in Vancouver later in the month.

In addition to the most valuable player award, The Times will present prizes to the members of two all-star teams.

GOLD BASKETBALLS

The selection panel will pick a first and second all-star team with players on the first team receiving miniature gold basketballs and second team members getting silver spoons.

Three-time tournament champion Alberni Chieftains will clash with the host Mount View High School Hornets at 10 Friday morning in the first game with Lake Cowichan and Esquimalt clashing in the second game.

Third game matches Oak Bay and Ladysmith and defending champion Vic High Totems take on Cumberland in the fourth game of the first round.

IN NAME ONLY

The Millionaires were rich in name only. They won only eight of 48 games and did not qualify for the post-season playoffs.

"We had a first-year club," says Hamilton.

"We were pretty green and made a lot of mistakes but the fans back there never let us down, no matter how many bad games we had."

"My goals—against average was pretty high, somewhere around seven or so. I never managed to get a shutout but I think if I had been able to get one, those people would have given me the whole town," says Hamilton.

Seattle bounced back from a 20 deficit early in the second period to down the Royals 6-4 and move into third-place with New Westminster.

It was the only game in either coast or prairie divisions.

The Royals went ahead 1-0 on Bobby Love's goal, his first of the night, late in the first period. Blinkly Boyce added another in the second before Gord Sinclair bounded in Seattle's first mid-way through the period.

Vics Knock Bays From Unbeaten Ranks

Two undefeated high school soccer teams tangled Wednesday afternoon and, as expected, George Vickery, Robin Farquhar, only one team came out of the har and Gary Liebel. Pete Napper scored for Oak Bay.

Monday Vic. High meets Mount Douglas at Vic. High.

Playing well considering the muddy conditions of the field, the two teams engaged in a spirited battle.

Oak Bay had never been scored upon until Wednesday when the aggressive Vic. High platoon peppered the goal from all angles.

The reason Oak Bay is still on top is that it has played five league games (four wins, one loss) to Vic. High's two (both wins).

Oak Bay's goal-tender, Bernie Johnson, was spectacular in the scoreless first half.

The second half was a different story.

Vic. High carried the play until lanky centre forward Lance Rutherford blasted a grass-scorcher from the 18-yard line that neatly beat Oak Bay's Johnson.

Inside left Otto Cheuden topped off another goalmouth scramble with a fast shot to give the Vics a 2-0 lead.

Sporting Club Gets Reprieve

NEW YORK (AP)—Pending a Supreme Court hearing March 13, Supreme Court Justice James B. M. McNally Wednesday stayed the action of the New York State athletic commission in revoking the licences of the London Sporting Club and its president and matchmaker, Tex Sullivan.

This development gave Sullivan an opportunity to ask approval for one more boxing show at St. Nicholas Arena, where the London club has staged weekly televised fights for more than two years. It also delayed the efforts of DuMont Television Corporation to arrange different promotion for the Monday night fights.

Royal Signs For $17,000

SEATTLE (AP)—A four-year contract calling for $17,000 a year salary was approved Wednesday by the University of Darrell Royal, new head coach.

The salary and length of contract are the biggest ever signed by the university for a coach and ranks the former Mississippi State mentor among the nation's highest paid coaches.

It is $5,000 a year higher than was paid Royal's predecessor, Johnny Cherberg, who was fired in January. Cherberg was employed on one-year contracts.

Royal also will receive $6,000 a year more than his boss, athletic director George Briggs, the man who hired him. Briggs also is new at Washington, succeeding Harry Carrill who resigned under fire after a storm was raised by Cherberg's ouster.

The board of control, ruling student organization, took no action on demands by Cherberg that he and his assistants be paid in full for 1956. The three assistants received $7,500 a year.

BOUT POSTPONED

QUEBEC (CP)—Canadian welterweight champion Tony Pérey of Edmonton has postponed his bout with challenger Al Marcotti due to a virus infection. It was announced Wednesday.

Rookie Art Jones, the league's top goal getter during the regular season, sparked the Flyer offensive with a hat trick in the first period, while teammates Jack Lancia, Lorne Nadeau and Frank Kubasek scored one each.

For Kimberley, veteran Cal Hockley notched a pair with Claude Bell, Ray McNiven and Ted Lebordia adding one each.

'Play Ball' Rings Out As Majors Open Camps

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

It's "batter up" today as baseball's spring training season opens officially in 16 major league camps.

Nothing has changed. Optimism is rampant.

The rookies are sure to make the grade. The vets are certain to come back with a good year and, if you take some predictions at face value, there will be eight first division clubs in each league.

Let's start with the veterans.

Willie Jones, a nine-year-man with Philadelphia Phillies, reports he is in the best shape of his career.

"Just six pounds overweight," he gloated. "I'll be a streamlined gazelle when the season opens. Best shape you'll ever see. I'm the Phillies' third baseman. Don't forget that."

Dale Mitchell, who has been around even longer than Jones, showed up in Cleveland's camp Wednesday and worked out at first base.

"Just so I stay in shape," he said. "Then maybe they'll use me somewhere."

And in Chicago Cubs' quarters in Mesa, Ariz., pitcher Russ Meyer, obtained from Brooklyn during the winter, indicated he is ready to work in one of the intra-squad games this weekend. This despite some trouble he developed earlier this week.

Now for the rookies:

Bonus pitcher Jim Brady pitched three more hitless innings in Lakeland, Fla., and Detroit manager Bucky Harris called him "impressive." Brady now has hurled six hitless innings in camp contests.

Glen Cox, a right-hander Kansas City Athletics bought from Brooklyn, figures his knuckle ball will help him make the grade in the majors. He signed under fire after a storm was raised by Cherberg's ouster.

The board of control, ruling student organization, took no action on demands by Cherberg that he and his assistants be paid in full for 1956. The three assistants received $7,500 a year.

B.C. Artists Represented in Gallery Display

By GWLADYS DOWNES

The "Collectors' Choice" exhibition at the Art Gallery, which will be on display for three weeks, has been brought together in an unusual way. All the paintings, which illustrate the historical development of Canadian painting from its beginning to the present day, have been acquired by Canadians for their own personal pleasure to hang in their homes. They are temporarily on loan to the Western Art circuit.

The collection has, therefore, a certain pleasing intimacy about it which is sometimes lacking in specially staged museum exhibitions. This quality, I think, may also be partly due to the moderate size of the canvases. But the real reason for this feeling of intimacy lies deeper than size or arrangement.

What seems to attract the majority of people who own the paintings is a certain joyfulness, a certain sensuous pleasure, in the handling of paint itself. Whatever the style of subject matter, one feels that the artist was engaged in an occupation which was fundamentally giving him great pleasure, which he managed to convey to the spectators and above all formal elements in his painting.

GOOD EXAMPLE

Leonard Brooks' "White Chapel, Mexico" offers a good example of this handling of form and color. So does "Draped Figure" by Andre Bieler. It emerges also in the grave, lucid classicism of David Milne's "Threshed Yesterday," and in a flower piece by a young Vancouver painter, Takao Tanabe which recalls Milne's own touch with still life.

Many B.C. artists are represented in the collection. There is an unusually lyrical landscape by J. L. Shadforth, "Birds at Dusk" and a fine composition by Molly Bobak, "Still Life With Melons." A semi-abstract by A. C. Binning, "Departure from Bowen Island," is one of the most attractive pictures in the show. Abstractions are so rarely gay, but in this one the boat, the children, the water, and the flags are caught in a disciplined riot of color.

There is also a small collection of Daumier lithographs on display. You do not have to understand the French captions to enjoy these brilliant, biting, satirical comments on the human race, by a master of caricature.

$10 a Month Pay Hike Won by City Police

Tentative wage agreement was reached between Victoria police commission and Victoria Police Federal Union (TLC) Wednesday with offer by the city of a $10 across-the-board monthly increase.

The general membership of the union has still to ratify the acceptance by the bargaining committee, headed by union president, Lorne Shandley.

The new contract, renewable in 12 months although the commission had asked a two-year contract, lifts a first-class constable to about $332.

Cost to the city for the increase will be about $10,800. Original union demands were for $20,000 increases this year. Some fringe benefits were also granted.

Lady Eden Launches
New CPR Liner May 9

LONDON (CP) — Lady Eden, wife of Prime Minister Eden, will launch Canadian Pacific's new 26,000-ton passenger liner, Empress of England:

The launching will be May 9 at Vickers-Armstrongs naval yard, Newcastle-on-Tyne. The Empress of England is a sister ship of the Empress of Britain, which will make her maiden voyage in April.

Give your family the extra protection of Meteor's Safeguard Design

Foremost star in its field

Four fine series, V-8 standard in all models.
Illustrated, Meteor Rideau Victoria.

Foremost with a new kind of safety—Meteor surrounds you and your loved ones with the built-in protection of all-new "Safeguards".

METEOR'S NEW SAFEGUARD STEERING WHEEL is designed to protect the driver against serious injury caused by impact with the steering post: a hazard that safety research studies prove is responsible for nearly 40% of all driver injuries.

The wheel rim, supported by 3 equally-spaced spokes, is more than 3 inches above the recessed steering post, and acts as a cushion on impact. Standard on every '56 Meteor, it's a real safety "plus".

METEOR'S NEW SAFEGUARD DOUBLE-GRIP DOOR LATCHES are designed with a special high-tensile steel plate that works like an interlocking handclasp to keep doors safely shut even under unusual stress. They are standard equipment on all '56 Meteors, and a foremost idea in safety for statistics show that passengers are twice as safe, if, in an accident, they remain within the protective shell of the car.

METEOR'S NEW SAFEGUARD INSTRUMENT PANEL CUSHIONING PAD is five times as shock-absorbent as foam rubber. It's extra protection against a common cause of accident injury, and gives a new, rich, smart appearance. This, together with Safeguard sun visors and seat belts is an optional Safeguard package that costs less than $35.00.

METEOR'S NEW SAFEGUARD SUN VISORS are cushioned, too, for your extra protection (optional, see above). Full-swivel safety mirror in all '56 Meteors is designed to minimize shattering. And Meteor's 1,098 sq. in. of safety glass gives safe all-around visibility. New safety-beam headlights give you up to 80 ft. more effective seeing distance.

METEOR'S NEW SAFEGUARD SEAT BELTS are stronger than airline safety belts. They are anchored to double-reinforced steel floor supports to give desirable protection against many injury hazards and add to your driving comfort. Easy one-hand adjustment. (Optional, a slight extra cost.)

THERE'S NEW SAFETY, TOO, IN METEOR'S GREAT V-8 "GO" AND POWER ASSISTS! Meteor's split-second V-8 response gives you faster control, safer performance. You enjoy extra margins of safety with optional Power Steering and Power Brakes: "no shift" ease with optional Merc-O-Matic Drive; easier handling, better stability with Angle-poised half-joint suspension: sure stopping with Meteor's big weather-sealed brakes. See the '56 Meteor—foremost in style, performance, safety and value!

HERE'S AN ACTUAL EXAMPLE! LIFE-SAVING FEATURES OF THE NEW 1956 METEOR

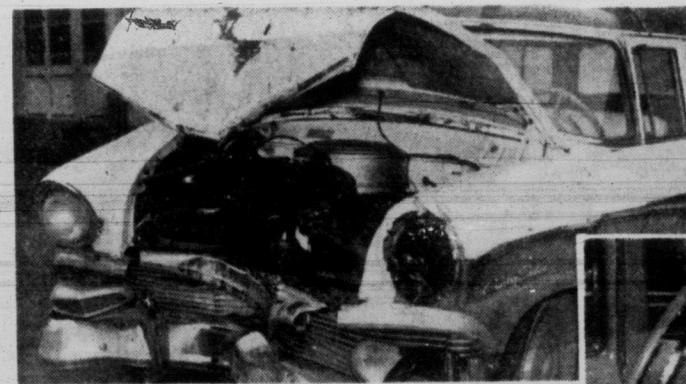

Photo at left shows wreck from which 4 people walked away with minor scratches. Damage resulted from impact at speed of 50 miles per hour. Doors did not spring open. METEOR'S NEW SAFEGUARD DOUBLE-GRIP DOOR LATCHES kept doors safely shut, protecting the occupants from being thrown from the car at time of impact. PASSENGERS ARE TWICE AS SAFE!

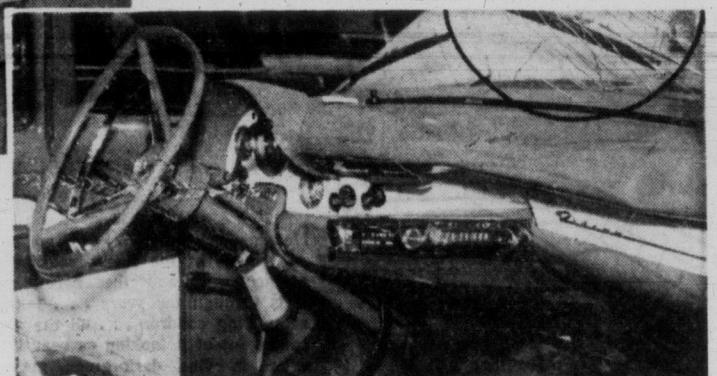

Photo at right shows interior of wrecked 1956 Meteor... actual photographs taken immediately after accident occurred. Note how the safeguard steering wheel collapsed at impact and non-shatterproof glass helped prevent further injury. The seriousness of this accident could have caused loss of life, but through METEOR'S SAFEGUARD DESIGN it became a minor accident which was limited to damage to car only.

BETWEEN TIMES
By
MONTE ROBERTS

News item: "Members of touring British cricket team kidnap umpire, berate him for bad decisions, twist his arm, pour water on him."

Oh, come now, chaps. I mean to say, really. Hardly the thing to do, what?

Going about treating umpires like that could lead to all sorts of things. After all, pouring water on the bloke, not even whisky and soda. Twisting his arm, too. A little leg pulling, now, could be a bit of a joke. But arm-twisting! Just not done, chaps.

First thing you know, jolly old game of cricket will be fit only for the colonies.

This trend keeps up, cover-point will be exhorting bowler to pour it down batsman's throat.

Silly mid-off will be saying, burn it in there. Lefty.

Square leg will be shouting get that-bum outa there.

Wicketkeeper will forget to say "How's that, sir?" to umpire, and will toss bits of sand into batsman's eyes.

Deep mid-off will come racing in after close call to umpire, and scream "Why, you blind robber, he failed to reach the crease by a country mile!"

Batsman who has been ruled lbw will say to umpire "Whyncha getcha self a seen' eye dog, sir?"

Point, cover point, mid on, mid off, deep mid on, deep mid off, short slip, third man, square leg, wicket keeper, and bowler will take to chewing gum. Or even tobacco.

Whole world of cricket will come crashing to ground. End of Empire will be in sight. Englishmen in outpost will cease to dress for dinner. Ladies will be allowed to remain at table after port is served. Sun will set on old school tie. Gad!

This maltreatment of umpires has endless ramifications. Endless. I mean to say, really endless, what?

Gentlemen and plebeians will be using same entrance to pavilion. A gentleman will appear on the pitch with flannels improperly creased. Coffee will be served at tea-interval.

Hate to be a Cassandra crying in wilderness, chaps. A ruddy apostrophe of doom, and 1066 and all that, but one can see where this umpire kidnapping is leading one, can't one?

Break up, now, fellows. Play the game. Carry a straight bat. Remember, battle of Eton was won on playing fields of Waterloo, and it is a far, far better thing you do than you did.

Life is not all pouring water on umpires. Think of the example you are setting for spectators. If this keeps up, chaps, there will come a day when spectators will hurl their tea cups at the umpire!

And that wouldn't be cricket, what?

EDITOR'S NOTE: No, but it would be jolly good fun to watch.

Taxpayers this year may be dismayed by the extra width of what is called the T1 short income tax form, which has to be completed and filed by midnight April 30 next.

To assist them in making a trouble-free return, The Times today presents the first of a series of articles showing the most expeditious way to complete your form and obtain the maximum tax benefits, with possibly a refund of taxes paid.

The new tax form need cause no alarm. It has been devised by the Income Tax Department to make your filing easier.

Whereas in previous years the form consisted of three separate sheets of paper, this year the form is in three divisible sections:

The extreme left-hand side offers an income tax guide, which if followed will be of great assistance in the preparation of your return.

The other two sections are duplicate copies of the filing form. Complete one of them for filing at the Victoria income tax office at the Belmont Building on Government street. You can fill in the other for your own records.

All employees should receive their T4 wage slip by Feb. 29. By this date employers should have filed their report of wages paid with the tax department. (If they haven't they are liable for penalty.)

When you receive your T4 slip start collecting all necessary information, such as donation receipts, medical expense receipts and union dues.

Saanich Property Chosen For $600,000 Forest Lab

Storm Brewing Over District Health Costs

Victoria Wants Share Changes

New assistant adjutant and quartermaster-general for B.C. area headquarters, Vancouver, is Major Arthur Foote, DSO, PPCLI, of Victoria, the army announced today. He will be promoted to acting lieutenant-colonel. Victoria College educated, he joined the Canadian Scottish in 1922, won his DSO at Dieppe, and was latterly staff officer with Commonwealth forces in Tokyo.

Union Hits At Saanich Ultimatum

Labor Relations Board action is pending in a dispute between Saanich council and municipal employees, who were handed a wage ultimatum at Monday's sitting of council.

Council threatened to scrap its proposed wage formula and employee benefits if Saanich Municipal Employees' Association turned down a council offer of 2½ per cent blanket wage hike for 1956 and 1½ per cent next year.

Employees asked 4 per cent this year and 3 per cent for 1957.

They were given until 5 p.m. March 9 to accept council's offer.

"We are not going to be bulldozed," business representative Percy Raymond said today.

He said the ultimatum would be taken to a general meeting of the union shortly where members will consider steps to be taken of operating as an account without a city licence.

"Intimidation is specifically banned in the Labor Relations Act," Mr. Raymond pointed out.

"I am very disappointed that Saanich council should seek through the press to intimidate its employees. Such threats arouse only unnecessary antagonisms and make bargaining more difficult."

Sailor Hurt, Car Wrecked

A naval rating was in Naden hospital, today with multiple fractures following a car crash early this morning in Saanich.

Naval authorities said John Paul Hamilton, HMCS Cedarwood, suffered several broken ribs and a fractured pelvis. They described his condition as satisfactory.

He was injured in a crash on Trans-Canada highway near Bute at about 3:45 a.m. Saanich police said.

Police said the car he was driving was owned by George Crump, 723 Field.

Hamilton was proceeding west on Trans-Canada highway when the late-model car he was driving went out of control, rolled over and was demolished.

Witnesses will gather in Victoria next week at the Island assembly of the Vancouver Island circuit, embracing ten centres from Nanaimo south.

The convention will be held March 9-11 at Club Sirocco. Speakers will be from as far away as Toronto.

Attendance as delegates will be 200. Witnesses from Victoria.

Prior to the convention itself, a film entitled "New World Society in Action," will have a public showing, at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday, March 7, at the Club Sirocco.

A one-way street system for the whole of downtown Victoria has been recommended to city council by a Junior Chamber of Commerce traffic safety committee.

The recommendation will be discussed at the next meeting of council sub-committee on traffic.

The Jaycees also asked minor changes in present parking, turning and street signal regulations, and proposed that the city police commission be empowered to handle all traffic and engineering permits.

The recommendation calls for one-way streets running north and south, from Herald to Broughton, and running east and west, from Quadra to Government.

The funeral will be held Saturday at 3 p.m. at McCall's Chapel, under auspices of Britannia Lodge.

Damage was not extensive.

The machine is owned by Royal Oak.

The premier wrote a letter asking Alcan's permission, said Mr. Howard.

Premier Bennett made no reply.

"To the everlasting credit of Alcan, they didn't object to the Skeena member."

Deputy minister of municipal affairs J. E. Brown conducted the Kitimat housing inquiry, which followed demands for a probe from residents and unions at the up-coast aluminum city.

Mr. Howard's charge came as the government turned down a resolution calling for the tabling of all correspondence on the inquiry.

Municipal Affairs Minister Wesley Black said the government would not accept the resolution because the report, which found housing at Kitimat compared favorably with that of any similar new community, had been tabled in the legislature Wednesday.

The income tax officials are only too happy to offer any advice or assistance they can to the taxpayer, but they are prohibited by the crown from actually making out a return.

ENTRY OF MARCH PACED AT BLUSTERING 32 MPH

March met one-half of a tradition today by arriving like a lion—not fully grown, but husky enough to ride a gale of 32 miles per hour with gusts up to 47 miles.

Weatherman William Mackie predicted continuing winds of 30 miles from the southwest for tonight and Friday, with the exception of a swing to the southeast Friday morning.

Skies will be mostly cloudy, he said; with rain and showers. Temperatures tonight and Friday will range between 38 and 46 degrees.

11 Capital Planners To Make Up New Body

A bill designed to establish an 11-member Capital Improvement District Commission was given first reading in the legislature Wednesday.

The commission will comprise six persons appointed by the provincial cabinet, two by the city of Victoria and one each by the municipalities of Esquimalt, Oak Bay and Saanich.

No mention was made of specific amounts of money the commission will have at its disposal.

The bill states that unless provided by appropriation (through the legislature) the expenditure of moneys required by the commission will be authorized by the cabinet.

A secretary will be appointed to the commission by the cabinet.

All plans for building or outside alteration of any building by the government on provincial land in the district will be subject to approval of the commission.

The commission's own plans must be submitted to the cabinet, with detailed estimates of cost, for approval.

READ IT NEXT DAY—BENNETT

MLAs Would Play Hookey If Verbatim Reports Made

Premier Bennett said Wednesday a verbatim, Hansard-type record of the proceedings of the B.C. Legislature would contribute to absenteeism.

Members would realize they don't have to sit on the floor of the House—they could read about it the next day," said the premier.

Attorney-General Robert Bonner also opposed a resolution calling for the report of all efforts to institute verbatim reporting" and any correspondence on the matter. Resolution was introduced by George Gregory (Victoria).

Mr. Bonner said he had grave doubts we should be able to secure reporters," and said costs would be high.

LOW COST

Mr. Gregory said in reply that he had been told by a man covering the Sloan Commission for the Morrison company of Vancouver, that firms had submitted a tender to do the work, at low cost.

Liberal Leader Arthur Laing said the premier "would be well advised to take the stand he has taken. Things have come from that side of the House he wouldn't like to see in print."

Power Body Sale at Sechelt Will Go Before Legislature

B.C. legislature will be asked to approve the sale of the B.C. Power Commission's power plant and transmission system on the Sechelt peninsula to the privately-owned B.C. Electric.

Authorization of the sale is sought in an amendment to the Power Act, introduced in the House Wednesday.

The amending bill also contains provision for boosting the borrowing limits of the power commission from $110,000,000 to $170,000,000.

The Sechelt plant sale is a result of the widely-publicized Public Utilities Commission hearing on a power franchise for the area, which resulted in the power commission making a last-minute pull-out.

CCF MLAs have described the issue as "a sell-out" to the B.C. Electric.

As part of the agreement, the B.C. Electric agreed to sell transmission lines on Vancouver Island to the commission.

The move follows signing of a three-year trade pact with Russia.

He said the elevators could handle from 75 to 100 grain cars a week, approximately 200,000 bushels.

Wheat shipments to the Soviet will also go through Vancouver and Prince Rupert, ranging between 15,000,000 and 18,000,000 bushels annually from the three west coast ports.

The grain terminal here, at Ogden Point, is at present "plugged," he said, but a sizeable quantity of grain would be loaded for export next week.

It was expected Russia would place large orders for wheat almost immediately, and a Russian purchasing mission was expected to be set up in Winnipeg. Russian crops have been adversely affected by severe winter conditions and wheat from Canada is wanted for Russian eastern provinces.

Premier Bennett made no reply.

"To the everlasting credit of Alcan, they didn't object to the Skeena member."

Handy 3-D Skillet Insert Saves Much Cooking Space

By PENNY SAVER

When preparing a number of foods that must be steamed, fried or re-heated, you'll sometimes find that your stove is cluttered with pots and pans. To cut down on the number, try using a 3-D skillet insert that fits inside any standard 10-inch or larger skillet. Three roomy compartments make up this utensil that does the work of three. Save time, energy and space. Of rust-proof, shiny aluminum, it has a removable heat-resistant plastic centre knob to facilitate handling. Each insert cost $1.

To protect the covers of books that have caught your fancy, or books that may have a tendency to become well worn, what you need is a sturdy leather book cover. In soft pastels, these covers have hand-painted scenes on the front cover. There may be a lady and gentlemen sitting in the park, a little girl with a balloon, elephants, a horse and buggy scene, children, lambs, cranes, chicks, rabbits, porcupines and ancient crests. The covers are lined with heavy taffeta, and have a long, leather-strand bookmark attached.

AS WE LIVE

Job Success Depends On Employee's Attitude

By ELIZABETH B. HURLOCK, Ph.D.

There is no such thing as the "perfect" job. Every job has some drawbacks and some good qualities. A person who has had work experience learns this and is able to adjust to the drawbacks.

(Q)—"I am a widow, 58 years old, in good health, and with only a small pension to live on. My married children have offered me a home with them but I prefer not to impose on them until I have to. I have never worked but I have been offered several good jobs as housekeeper for elderly people. I am not sure I would like such work but I have no office training and factories won't take women my age. One of the jobs pays well but I have been told the old lady I would work for is very fussy and hard to get along with. The other that sounds good to me is with a widower who has three children in the teens, but he can't afford to pay me much and the work would be much harder than in the other job. Do you think I would be happy doing such work?"—L. F.

(A)—Whether or not you would be happy will depend, it seems to me, on your attitude. If you do not want to live with your children, and if you haven't enough money to live alone, then you must work and take any job you can get with your limited training and experience.

While the job with the old lady may seem less desirable than the other, you should consider which will mean more to you in the long run. It would certainly not overtax your strength and patience as the job in the home of the widower with three teenage children would and it would give you a chance to save some money.

Should you take the better-paying job, you would have to learn not to be upset by the fussiness of the old lady and to cater to her whims. If you did all you could to make her happy and comfortable, she might be less fussy than she has been in the past.

Then, too, you certainly would not have to work so hard as in the larger family and this would eliminate fatigue that can make things get on your nerves. Be sure, in any job you take, to arrange ahead of time for reasonable time off from your job. This is essential to eliminate the possibility that it will get on your nerves and make you unhappy.

For your copy of Elizabeth B. Hurlock's new 64-page booklet, "You and Your Problems," send 15 cents in coin with a self-addressed stamped envelope care of this newspaper.

APRON FOR HUBBY

ASPLEY, England (CP) — Wives who are undecided what to get their husbands for a birthday present should get them an apron, says Rev. Tom Richardson of this Nottinghamshire parish. "One of my own birthday presents was an apron embellished with cross-stitch in liturgical colors," he wrote in his parish magazine. "What could be more suitable for work in a parson's kitchen?"

BINGO TOO EASY

VANCOUVER (CP) — Bingo games are "just too easy a way to raise funds," says Mrs. R. J. Zelmer, president of Vancouver's 13,000-member Parent-Teacher Council. "People don't work together for bingo," she said. "It's just for the money, and that's to prove the whole attitude."

Braille System First Important Step in Rehabilitation of Blind

Six small dots, turned around and listen to his favorite author into various groupings to make without moving a finger or up the letters of the alphabet, touching a Braille dot, opened a new life to sightless people, Major M. C. Robinson, OBE, told members of the Women's Canadian Club, Wednesday afternoon.

These dots, later to be known as the Braille system, were the first important step in the development of different ways to help the sightless rehabilitate themselves and become useful citizens.

Today, through the Braille system books and even the Readers Digest have been made readable to the blind, the speaker said.

Major Robinson, himself blinded at the age of 20 in the First World War, and today a director of the Canadian National Institute for the Blind, went on to describe other great milestones in the history of the sightless.

These included the founding in 1915 of the hostel of St. Dunstans by the British publisher, Sir Arthur Pearson, the first service centre for the blind; the organization in 1918 of the Canadian National Institute for the Blind and the more recent talking book machine that makes it possible for a sightless person to "lean back in a chair and listen to his favorite author into various groupings to make without moving a finger or up the letters of the alphabet, touching a Braille dot."

The speaker briefly described his own work as head of rehabilitation for the blind in western Canada, and especially the census he had organized of sightless people with registrations and case histories.

"Twenty-five years ago there was little knowledge of how many sightless there were in western Canada," he said. "Today, I know there are 6,000 blind persons and through our registration system I am able to find out the needs of each one."

Speaking of the employment of the blind, which is an important part of rehabilitation work, and professions,

Major Robinson said, "The blind demonstrated what they could do in the Second World War when workers were scarce and they were called upon to take many jobs. Today, they are still demonstrating that they can fit in to many businesses and professions."

Marlowe Devotee Defends Critic-Killed 'Tamburlaine'

NEW YORK (CP)—Calvin Hoffman, an advocate of the theory that Christopher Marlowe wrote Shakespeare's plays, says New York's treatment of the Canadian production of Marlowe's "Tamburlaine" was "the most serious miscarriage of criticism in the history of the Broadway theatre."

The Stratford Festival company's production opened in New York on Jan. 19 and, following unfavorable reviews, closed after 2½ weeks. It had been scheduled to run six weeks.

"MAJOR TRAGEDY"

Hoffman, in an article in last Sunday's New York Herald Tribune, said: "Marlowe's 'Tamburlaine' having been forced to close before its allotted course is a major theatrical tragedy. It probably will never be presented again during this century. On the heads, therefore, of certain deriding reviewers and their tepid remarks about the play must lie the guilt."

Hoffman is the author of "The Murder of the Man who was Shakespeare." He is going to England shortly in connection with a plan to open Sir Thomas Walsingham's tomb in search of documents proving Marlowe's authorship of Shakespeare's plays.

Nixon Storm Centre After Ike's Speech

AN EDITORIAL

The Honor of the House

Last Monday night Mr. Sommers resigned as minister of lands and forests after making serious allegations against the Liberal Party, certain unnamed timber interests and the press.

Every citizen of British Columbia is safe to say, expected that the Government would give the Opposition an immediate opportunity to answer Mr. Sommers' charges.

But on Tuesday and Wednesday Premier Bennett effectively throttled the Opposition. By directing the House to other business, he swept the whole Sommers case under the rug. At press time today there was no sign that the Premier intended to allow adequate debate on what is undoubtedly the Legislature's most serious business before prorogation tomorrow.

What is Mr. Bennett afraid of?

With his majority, of course, he can arrange the agenda to suit himself. He can put off his lands and forests estimates until the last moment before prorogation and stifle debate on the issues raised by Mr. Sommers. He can escape to Ottawa without answering any of the Opposition's argument. He can close the House without clarifying the confusion left behind by his retiring minister.

He can do all these things if he cares nothing for public opinion. Powerful as he thinks himself, however, he must answer in the end to public opinion, and as a skilled politician he must know that public opinion is shocked by events in the Legislature as it has never been shocked before in modern times.

All the public asks is that the charges and counter-charges of the last few days shall be fully investigated. Assuredly they cannot be investigated in a slander suit between Mr. Sommers and his accusers. For Mr. Sommers himself has broadened the ambit of this case by indicting not merely his accusers but various timber interests, politicians and newspapers. His quarrel with his accusers has grown into a smear of many people who will have no chance to appear in the libel case and defend themselves.

Is this the sort of mess that Mr. Bennett proposes to leave behind when the House prorogues tomorrow? Are the Social Credit members of the House so completely under the Premier's thumb that they will thus abdicate their responsibilities as representatives of the people? Are they so eager to get home that they will refuse to stay in session for a few days longer and get to the bottom of these affairs? And is the Opposition so intent that it does not know how to protect itself from allegations that clearly defy the rules of the House?

Mr. Bennett can solve all these problems instantly if he will do now what he should have done as soon as Mr. Sommers was accused. His duty is to appoint a royal commission to inquire into every question and charge raised by Mr. Sommers and by his accusers. If such an inquiry was needed when only Mr. Sommers was accused it is doubly needed when the accusations have spread over a much wider field and cannot possibly be sifted in a personal libel suit.

If the House packs up without clarifying these matters it will deserve the public contempt which surely will be heaped on it by all the citizens of British Columbia. Not only the honesty of individuals but the honor of the legislative process itself hangs on the decisions of the next few hours.

Will GOP Drop Him In Favor of Dewey?

WASHINGTON (UP) — Vice-President Richard M. Nixon is today's election-year storm centre. If he is forced off the 1956 Republican presidential ticket, a likely substitute would be former Gov. Thomas E. Dewey of New York. Dewey probably would accept.

Some of Nixon's friends fear that the movement to bounce him got a green light Wednesday in President Eisenhower's announcement that he would accept a substitute but leave the selection of a vice-president up to the Republican national convention.

Eisenhower emphatically praised Nixon's ability and performance as vice-president but refused to commit himself when asked if he wanted him on the ticket again.

NIXON FOES AIDED

Attendants in the Legislative Buildings were preparing for another "full house" in the public galleries today, in the expectation Premier Bennett will call the estimate vote which could lead to a blow-up in the Sommers-Sturdy case.

The packed galleries waited in vain Wednesday.

Every seat was taken, and the curious lined up outside the corridors for the night sitting, but Premier Bennett did not call for the estimates of the minister of lands and forests—the only point at which the issue can be raised.

IN FINAL HOURS

The government has given no indication when it intends to call the vote, and there are reports it may be held up until the last moment before the House prorogues.

R. E. Sommers, who dramatically resigned from his portfolios as minister of lands, forests and mines last Monday, was absent from the House Wednesday.

He did not attend a meeting today of the mines committee investigating the Stewart-Cassiar road, a controversy in which he is a key figure.

New V.I. Air Service

VANCOUVER (CP) — Pacific Western Airlines will inaugurate a new flight from Vancouver to Port Hardy linking up with smaller feeder planes serving more than 200 camps and 30,000 persons in other northern points, traffic manager Mickey McGuire said today.

DEWEY WILLING

Some of Mr. Eisenhower's close friends are urging that he be dropped lest millions bolt the 1956 Republican ticket in protest against the possibility Nixon might succeed to the White House. The stop-Nixon forces need a substitute with two vital qualifications. First, he should have national stature and, second, he should be capable of carrying the 1956 campaign load. Eisenhower intends a minimum of campaigning.

That's where Dewey comes in.

Pressed some days ago for an answer to the question: Suppose Nixon were benched? Dewey said, substantially, this:

"Yes, if I were asked to run for the vice-presidency, I would accept the nomination."

Duke on High Seas For Fleet Exercises

Joins Canadiens

Member of the Victoria Canadiens' herring catch ever recorded on the coast is being harvested by British Columbia fishermen, the federal fisheries department said today.

Total catch for the season to date is almost 213,000 tons, 2,000 tons better than the record catch for the entire 1953-54 season.

Fishing will close March 10.

The Duke of Edinburgh sailed for Gibraltar in the royal yacht Britannia today after piloting himself here from Buckingham Palace in a helicopter.

On board the Britannia the duke will take part in combined fleet exercises in the western Mediterranean. Later, if the weather is suitable, the Queen and Princess Alexandra will fly to Corsica to join him in the yacht for a week's holiday cruise.

Court circles said here that there is no reason to believe that the Queen is suffering from any form of ill-health or fatigue.

They made this assertion in reply to reports about the Queen's health published in some British and overseas newspapers.

High U.K. Army Job For Vancouver Man

OTTAWA (CP) — A Vancouver-born soldier, Gen. Sir Charles F. Loewen, will become adjutant-general of the British Army in October.

The Canadian Army said today it has learned of the appointment of the officer, now commander-in-chief of Britain's Far East land forces.

Gen. Loewen 55, graduated from Royal Military College in Kingston, Ont., and transferred to Britain's Royal Artillery in 1918.
